What We Believe

Dear Beloved Parishioners,

On this first Sunday of Lent, the readings focus on the notion of temptation. In the Old Testament Eve and Adam were tempted by the serpent in the garden, and in the New Testament Jesus is tempted by the devil in the desert. The devil has a way of turning a lie into a truth and the truth into a lie. The devil is, indeed, devious.

The devil tempts us to disobey God, to be rebellious of God's will and to be consumed with arrogance and pride. By doing this, we squeeze the presence of God out of our very lives. We fool ourselves into thinking that we do not need God. We acquire the mentality of I can do all things myself and by myself.

As people of faith, we look to Jesus as the model of how to resist and refuse the devil's cunning and deceitful ways. As the Messiah, Jesus did not rely solely upon his own strength to overcome the devil's temptations. With each alluring temptation, Jesus turned to God for help. Jesus relied solely on God. This first Sunday of Lent sets the tone of how we are to live in this world as the people of God. In God alone is our strength. The less I am (pride and ego), the more the presence of God is in me. With God, all things are possible then. With God, we are victors of the devil's evil ways. Turn to God in your time of need. God awaits us.

Fr. Paul

JUST SAY NO

"I'm giving up _____ for Lent"

Why?

I have always wondered about the purpose and benefit of fasting.

For me, giving something up only made me more focused on that thing.

It didn't seem to help me focus more on God, or my prayer. It was just a distraction.

But now I realize that giving up something that makes me happy in this life can remind me that only my relationship with God can make me truly happy for eternal life.

By experiencing some little sacrifice of temporary happiness, I can better appreciate the eternal happiness that is waiting for me.

And I should give up something that makes me happy, like chocolate or wine, not some negative thing that I should give up anyway, like anger or smoking. (I don't smoke, it's just an example!)

In today's Gospel, Jesus says no to the things that could make him happy in this life, like power and fame, so that he could focus on his long-term mission of bringing us all to the Father for eternal happiness.

Jesus confronted what was tempting him, recalled the lessons of the Scriptures, and prayed.

For Lent, I will try to confront what tempts me, recall the lessons of the Gospel, and pray.

Your in the Lord, Lucy Soltau
